

Figure 53. This figure shows the amplification ratio between 30N and 60N compared to the amplification ratio in the Arctic. The observed values from Berkeley Earth is shown in red and the GCMs are in blue. The GCMs tend to overestimate the amplification at the pole and underestimate the amplification in the mid latitudes